Top 3 Terpenes

b-Caryophyllene, Linalool, Terpineol a-Pinene, b-Pinene, Valencine a-Pinene, b-Pinene, Limonene Myrcene, a-Pinene, Geraniol
b-Caryophyllene, d-Carene, a-Bisabolol
Myrcene, Linalool, Terpinolene
Linalool, Anisaldehyde, Sage Oil

All of our Effects Based Blends are made using the terpenes matching the proposed effects. These were created for maximum efficacy and for allowing you to add any flavor you like. These will be great for cart manufactures with the marketing focused less on strain name recognition and more on the medical benefits of terpenes.

These are available in a water-soluble formulation as well.

Need a Gassier Terpene Blend?

Try GAS UP

A blend of some of the gassiest terpenes, alcohols, and esters naturally occurring in cannabis and hemp. The main components giving it the gassiest nose are myrcene, limonene, b-caryophyllene, and <14% isoamyl alcohol. Intended to enhance either flower that has lost its "GAS" or to be added to your terpene blend to give it that diesel taste. We recommend a maximum of 2% GAS UP in your distillate and no more than 2-3ml per pound of flower.

The price is about 30% less expensive than our Terpene Strains & Flavors

Having Viscosity Issues with Your Distillate?

Try THE JUICE - Viscosity Helper

A near flavorless terpene blend, with mild floral notes. Used as a diluent to help with viscosity levels in formulations. The Juice is one of the only diluents on the market that can legally and safely be added to a cannabis products according to the Department of Cannabis Control (DCC) guidelines. Meaning that all of the ingredients used are naturally occurring in cannabis. Great for really thick distillate such at Delta 8 - recommended usage- 1-3% by volume (1L distillate would need 10-30ml of The Juice). Compare to True Terpenes- Viscosity
